This project made me learn better time management. Each day I had a certain amount/number of tasks to complete. Honestly the mysql database part took longer than expected. But, while the smart contract took a minute, it was to be expected. All the setting up items, the next.js, connecting the metamask, and iOS parts were easier than I thought. Everything else done was the difficultly I guessed. On the iOS part I would've liked to expand the background color and put the back button on the top left of the screen. On the web part, some more detail would've been nice, but it got the job done. Everything else was just what it needed to be, nothing extra. Some key things I learned while completing this project is time management like I mentioned before, research, ask as many questions as possible, don't rely too much on ai, and to just get it done. I want to study more of backend and blockchain mainly because that is what took me the most time.
